THIRTY-FOURTH YEAR NO. 7.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1911.

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

WILL WAIT UPON SYNOD.

Some weeks ago appeared the announcement of the call of Dr. W. R. McChesney to Wooster University, he being offered a professorship in the faculty of that institution. Since then there has been no public announcement other than the correspondence relating to the call which appears in the February issue of the Presbyterian Witness.

President McKinney has asked that Dr. McChesney hold his decision as to accepting the call until the Board of Trustees and Synod takes some action. It might also be stated that Wooster is still holding the offer open until some action can be taken here.

The following is Dr. McChesney's letter:

January 12, 1911
My dear Dr. McKinney—In reply to your letter of January 8th, in which you ask me for the sake of Cedarville College and our church to hold my decision about leaving Cedarville College until after the next meeting of Synod, and the Board of Trustees, allow me to say that your request has been under my careful and prayerful consideration ever since. There are many reasons why it is desirable to me to go to Wooster. It is a splendid opportunity presented now for the third time and coming at the prime of my life. Indeed the remuneration named in the offer. Wooster is a delightful place to live in and its entire moral, intellectual, and religious atmosphere is inspiring and elevating. I should have no responsibility outside of my classroom work and my hours would be fewer than they are here. I could add several other reasons, all of which have been presented to you on two former occasions and which it is unnecessary for me to repeat. I feel that I owe it to myself and my family to accept the offer, and yet I realize these are, in a sense, selfish reasons for going; but, certainly you nor any one else in our church can find fault with me, if I should go, especially after giving sixteen years of the best part of my life to Cedarville College at a salary so low that I have not been able to save one cent in all these years. While I am not laboring to accumulate money, as the record will surely show, yet I still believe it is scriptural and common sense duty to lay by for the sake of my family.

However, nothing upon the assurance of your letter and out of regard for your efforts on my behalf in the past, and because I love Cedarville College and our Church and because I want to be entirely unselfish in this matter, I herewith give you my consent, and at a personal risk, to hold my decision about leaving Cedarville College in abeyance till after the meetings of Synod and our Board of Trustees.

Sincerely yours,
W. R. McChesney.

Wm. Conley Was Second.

Announcement has been made of the high scores awarded Ohio Dairy-men last week, at the National Corn Show, by the Ohio Dairy-men's Association.

In the state cream contest, L. P. Bailey of Tacoma and J. H. Warner were awarded first prizes of $25. Both had the high score of 93.25. William Conley, Cedarville, took second, with 92.5, and Albert O. Leedy, Belleville, third, with 92.

J. E. White, Greenfield, won first prize in the state milk contest, with high score of 93.5. Thomas A. Crawford, Garfield, second, with 92, and A. C. Leedy, third, with 91.85. The Hartman Stock Farm won first in the certified milk contest, with 92, and the Wild Rose Stock Farm first in the certified cream contest, with 93.

J. M. Baumiller, Natwood, was awarded first in the dairy butter contest, with 93.75. The Winter Dairy of Dawn, and W. L. Garber, Belleville, were tied for second at 92. In the state creamery butter contest, O. E. Pendergast, Bradford, was given first at 94. Who Western Ohio creamery, Greenville, took second with 93.5, and the Milford Center Creamery, third, with—Ohio State Journal.

Steam Explosion Damages Roof.

The roof over the rotary room at the plant of the Hagar Straw Board & Paper Company was badly damaged early Tuesday morning when the steam let loose and blew a quantity of cooked straw from the rotary boiler out through the roof. About that time in the morning the rotary boilers are dumped and the employees were in this act at the time of the accident.

Just what was the cause of the same is not known other than the steam is supposed to be shut off while the boilers are being dumped. The explosion was like a dull thud and people in that vicinity were aware that something had happened. A hole in the roof more than twenty feet square was torn out by the pressure of the steam driving a large quantity of cooked straw before it. A rafter was blown into the air and came down through the roof endways. Cooked straw lined the smoke-stack and roof of the building and was even blown across Xenia avenue.

There was no particular damage done other than to the roof but it was fortunate that no employees were in the upper room at the time. This is the first accident of the kind that has ever happened at the plant.

NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST.

It is estimated that fully 9,000 people attended the Blederswolf meeting in Xenia last Sabbath. Several hundred were turned away during the day as the tabernacle was filled to overflowing. In the afternoon Dr. Blederswolf addressed 3,000 men on "Booze" and it is said that his attack on the liquor issue was the most dramatic and surpassed anything of the kind ever given in this county. More than $500 was raised during the day which will cover the balance of the debt outside of the personal offering for Dr. Blederswolf.

The Greene County Teachers' Association meets Saturday, February 11, in the McKinley building in Xenia.

Saturday has been set aside as "Farmer's Day" at the Blederswolf meeting in Xenia. The whole citizenship of the county is invited and urged to bring well filled baskets. Free coffee will be served.

Harvey L. Miller, attorney, and one of the best known newspaper men in Ohio died Sabbath morning in Los Angeles, Cal., where he had gone for his health. For several years he had been in poor health and had spent much time in different localities. He was an industrious young man of sterling qualities and held the high esteem of scores of friends in Springfield where he was for a time managing editor of the Springfield Sun. Mr. Miller married Miss Jennie Cushing of that city, who is well known to many Cedarville people.

Death Of "Reaper King."

William N. Whitley, known the world over as the "Reaper King," inventor of the self blinder, died Monday evening at the City Hospital, Springfield, at the age of 70.

For many years Mr. Whitley was considered the foremost man in the state and was regarded as one of Ohio's most wealthy citizens. His invention of farm machinery commanded the attention of moneyed men every where and soon he amassed quite a fortune. In later life misfortune overtook him and his wealth was swept away almost in a flash. His great industry known as the East Street shops where thousands of men were employed was the start of Springfield's advancement in the commercial world.

With a brother, Amos Whitley, William located in Muncie, Ind., where a similar plant was erected and stands today under the control of Amos. William returned to Springfield and was the moving spirit in the organization of what was known as the Co-operative Harvester Company. This firm failed to be able to meet the competition of the harvester trust and was forced to the wall, leaving its originator a bankrupt.

The first feat performed by Whitley that really made him famous was the pulling of a reaper across a field near Jamestown in 1897. Always known as a man of powerful physique, Whitley exhibited wonderful strength, mentally and physically. During a contest between his reaper and that of an opponent at Jamestown, one of the horses hitched to the Whitley blinder gave out and he finished with one steed. His opponent, not to be out done, unhitched a horse and did the same. This enraged Whitley, who stated, "I can pull my reaper myself" and he turned his second horse loose and yoked himself in the harness and he pulled the machine from one side of the field to the other cutting a full swath. The act was witnessed by 500 farmers and members of the press. Whitelaw Reid of this place representing the Cincinnati Commercial. It is stated that this one feat alone made Whitley $2,000,000.

WE FINALLY GOT WARM.

A Writer's Indoor Experiences on a Cold Night in Gordenau.

What beautiful sunshine we had at Gordenau, and how nice and warm it was in the daytime! As long as the sun kept out it was lovely; but, oh, when the sun went down!
They gave me a beautiful, large, lofty room at the hotel with doors and windows all over it. After dinner I went up to try to write, and then I found that Siberia had come again. I put great logs of wood upon the fire and blew them with the bellows till the flames roared up the chimney, but still I shivered in the icy blasts that blew through every crevice. I put on my ulster, I dragged the blankets from the bed, I ran round the room and practiced the Indian clubs with a heavy portmanteau in each hand, but still I felt my blood congealing, and the horrors of the early morning came back again.

In this dilemma my companion's Sudan experiences stood up in good stead.
He was with Gordon in the expedition of 1873-7. He took our walking sticks and umbrellas, and with these and the blankets and the rugs he rigged up a nice, comfortable tent in front of the fire.

Sitting in this tent in our big room we at last got warm, and my fingers were able to hold a pen.—George R.
Sims in "Dagonet Abroad."

AN ARCTIC DELICACY.

Eskimo Soup Would Hardly Tickle Refined Palates.

Kane and Dr. Hayes, the first white men—apart from an occasional wanderer—to visit the Eskimos, found some difficulty in accommodating themselves to local customs. In "The Toll of the Arctic Seas" D. M. Edwards quotes Hayes' account of his first visit to a native hut. After a cordial welcome he was pressed to eat.
"This," says Hayes, "was an invitation which I feared, but now that I had come I knew that it would be unwise to decline it. The expression of thanks was one of the few in their language that I knew, and I made the most of this. They laughed heartily at my hesitation, and I ate with a good deal of gusto. At first my courage forsook me, but all eyes were fixed upon me, and it would have been highly impolite to shrink. I therefore shut my eyes, held my nose, swallowed the dose and retired. I was told afterward that it was their greatest delicacy—a soup made by boiling together blood, oil and seal intestines."

"Three Sheets in the Wind."
"What was the origin of the phrase for drunkenness, 'three sheets in the wind'?" a handman asked a sailor the other day. "Well," said the sailor, "I'll explain that matter to you. The two lower corners of a ship's sail are held taut by two ropes, one called a tack and another called a sheet. The tack is always kept very tight, but the sheet is loosened according to the wind, and the looser the sheet is the more freely the sail swings. If the sail is quite free its sheet is said to be 'in the wind'. Now, suppose that all three of a ship's sails were quite free. They would then fly about very wildly, and the ship would be unable to steer. The course of the ship would be a zig-zag one, and the reason for this would be that she had 'three sheets in the wind.' That, I guess, is why a man when he zigzags in his course is said to be 'three sheets in the wind' also."

He Was Not Lascivious.
John Morley in his life of Gladstone tells the story of the statesman's examination for admission to Oxford university when he was a youth. The examiner, having utterly failed to floor the candidate on some point of the ology, said, "We will now leave that part of the subject." "No, sir," replied the candidate; "if you please, we will not leave it yet," and proceeded to pour forth a fresh stream. The dean in Mr. Gladstone's day was Galsford, famous among other things for his trenchant brevity. "This is a fine gift," observes Mr. Morley slyly, "the dean evidently had not time to transmit to all of his flock."

Genius and Goodness.
I have had sometimes in mine the gloved and white paths of the upper class and the heavy black hand of the lower class and have recognized that both are but of men. After all these have passed before me I say that humanity has a synonym equality and that under heaven there is but one thing we ought to bow to, genius, and the only thing before which we ought to kneel, goodness.—Victor Hugo.

tune must depend on the bounty of his friends. Determine to save, for will power is the prime essential. Deposit regularly. Lay aside some portion of each week's or month's income. Deposit extra and unexpected receipts.

A MOST TOUCHING APPEAL

falls short of its desired effect if addressed to a small crowd of interested listeners. Mr. Business Man, are you wasting your ammunition on the small crowd that would trade with you anyway, or do you want to reach those who are not particularly interested in your business? If you do, make your appeal for trade to the largest and most intelligent audience in your community, the readers of this paper. They have countless wants. Your ads will be read by them, and they will become your customers. Try it and see.

BE COMFORTABLE NEXT WINTER

A poor furnace is not only a source of discomfort, but causes ill health, and wastes your fuel and your money.

Our Catalog is Free. Ask for it and for any information about Heating.
